CONTENTS

No. 1 JANUARY, 1940

A. G. Hogan and L. R. Richardson. Simplified rations for the chick. Four figures 1

Luther R. Richardson and Albert G. Hogan. Adequacy of a milk diet for the rat. Three figures 13

Thomas H. Jukes and Hubert Heitman, Jr. Biological assay of thiamin with chicks. Two figures 21

George R. Sharpless. Prevention of hyperplasia in the forestomach epithelium of rats fed white flour 31

E. LeB. Gray, K. C. D. Hickman and Elizabeth F. Brown. The state of vitamin A in the liver of the rat after feeding various forms of the vitamin. Two figures 39

O. D. Abbott and C. U. DeMasters. Choline in the diet of chickens 47

Barnett Sure, with the technical assistance of Alethea Beach. Quantitative requirements of the components of the vitamin B complex for lactation and growth of nursing young of the albino rat. Six figures 57

Barnett Sure, with the technical assistance of Alethea Beach. The essential nature of choline for lactation and growth of the albino rat. Three figures 71

Jean E. Hawks, Jeanne M. Voorhees, Merle M. Bray and Marie Dye. The influence of the nitrogen content of the diet on the calorie balances of pre-school children. One figure 77

H. R. Guilbert, C. E. Howell and G. H. Hart. Minimum vitamin A and carotene requirements of mammalian species. One figure 91

No. 2 FEBRUARY, 1940

Ross A. Gortner, Jr. Chronic selenium poisoning of rats as influenced by dietary protein. Two figures 105

E. N. Todhunter, R. C. Robbins, G. Ivey and W. Brewer. A comparison of the utilization by guinea pigs of equivalent amounts of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in lemon juice and in the crystalline form 113

E. N. Todhunter and Alva S. Fatzer. A comparison of the utilization by college women of equivalent amounts of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in red raspberries and in crystalline form 121

R. G. Sinclair. Growth of rats on high fat and low fat diets, deficient in the essential unsaturated fatty acids. Five figures 131

V. G. Heller and Robert Wall. The indigestible carbohydrates of feeds 141

Max Kriss and Lawson F. Marcy. The influence of urea ingestion on the nitrogen balance and energy metabolism of rats 151

E. W. Crampton and Robert Forshaw. Pasture studies XVI. The nutritive values of Kentucky blue grass, red top and brome grass, with particular reference to the relation between the chemical composition of the herbages and the live weight gains made by the animals subsisting thereon 161

Robert C. Lee. The rectal temperature and the metabolism of the wild cottontail rabbit 173

J. E. Greaves, Aaron F. Bracken and C. T. Hirst. The influence of variety, season and green manures upon the composition of wheats 179

S. W. Kletzien. With the technical assistance of K. W. Buchwald and L. Hudson. Iron metabolism. 1. The role of calcium in iron assimilation 187

T. Addis, D. D. Lee, W. Lew and L. J. Poo. The protein content of the organs and tissues at different levels of protein consumption. Two figures 199

D. V. Frost, V. R. Potter, C. A. Elvehjem and E. B. Hart. Iron and copper versus liver in treatment of hemorrhagic anemia in dogs on milk diets 207

No. 3 MARCH, 1940

Peggy Rehm and Jet C. Winters. The effect of ferric chloride on the utilization of calcium and phosphorus in the animal body 213

R. B. French and O. D. Abbott. Investigation of the vitamin C content of Florida fruits and vegetables. I. Effects of maturation and of cold storage on the vitamin C potency of oranges and grape-fruit. Five figures 223

Agnes Fay Morgan and Helen Davison Simms. Greying of fur and other disturbances in several species due to a vitamin deficiency. Three figures 233

Dorothy E. Williams, Florence L. MacLeod and Elise Morrell. Availability to white rats of phosphorus in Lespedeza sericea and alfalfa hays 251

E. Neige Todhunter and Ruth C. Robbins. Observations on the amount of ascorbic acid required to maintain tissue saturation in normal adults 263

E. Wise Burroughs, Helen S. Burroughs and H. H. Mitchell. The independence of the endogenous and the exogenous metabolism of nitrogen 271

ELIZABETH AUGHEY AND ESTHER PETERSON DANIEL. Effect of cooking upon the thiamin content of foods 285

MAX KRISS AND LAWSON F. MARCY. The metabolism of tyrosine, aspartic acid and asparagine, with special reference to respiratory exchange and heat production 297

No. 4 APRIL, 1940

DOUGLAS V. FROST, CONRAD A. ELVEHJEM AND EDWIN B. HART. Iron utilization in dogs on milk diets. One figure 311

GULBRAND LUNDE AND HANS KRINGSTAD. The anti grey hair vitamin, a new factor in the vitamin B complex. Seven figures 321

C. E. SKINNER AND A. EUGENE MULLER. Cystine and methionine deficiency in mold proteins. Nine figures 333

C. G. MACKENZIE AND E. V. MCCOLLUM. The cure of nutritional muscular dystrophy in the rabbit by alpha-tocopherol and its effect on creatine metabolism. Four figures 345

E. WISE BURROUGHS, HELEN S. BURROUGHS AND H. H. MITCHELL. The amino acids required for the complete replacement of endogenous losses in the adult rat. One figure 363

E. WISE BURROUGHS, HELEN S. BURROUGHS AND H. H. MITCHELL. The interdependence among amino acids in their utilization in the endogenous metabolism 385

PAUL J. FOUTS, OSCAR M. HELMER AND SAMUEL LEPKOVSKY. Factor II deficiency in dogs 393

H. B. PIERCE, R. G. DAGGS, A. B. MESERVEY AND W. J. SIMCOX. WITH THE TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE OF D. H. HOWE AND M. W. FOOTE. The retention of calcium and phosphorus by pre-school children. One figure 401

No. 5 MAY, 1940

THORNE M. CARPENTER. Composition of some common foods with respect to the carbohydrate content 415

THORNE M. CARPENTER. The combustion of carbohydrates in man after ingestion of common foods. Five figures 423

WENDELL H. GRIFFITH. Choline metabolism. IV. The relation of the age, weight and sex of young rats to the occurrence of hemorrhagic degeneration on a low choline diet. One figure 437

ALFRED H. FREE AND FRANKLIN C. BING. Wheat as a dietary source of iron. One figure 449

ICIE G. MACY, FRANCES COPE HUMMEL, HELEN A. HUNSCHER, MARION L. SHEPHERD AND HELEN J. SOUDERS WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF MARY BATES OLSON, PRISCILLA BONNER, JAMES HORTON, LOUISE EMERSON AND A. THERESA JOHNSTON. Effects of simple dietary alterations upon retention of positive and negative minerals by children 461

KENNETH P. DUBOIS, ALVIN L. MOXON AND OSCAR E. OLSON. Further studies on the effectiveness of arsenic in preventing selenium poisoning. One figure 477

HARRY A. WAISMAN, OLAF MICKELSEN, J. M. MCKIBBIN AND C. A. ELVEHJEM. Nicotinic acid potency of food materials and certain chemical compounds. One figure 483

MICHAEL G. MULINOS AND LEO POMERANTZ. Pseudo-hypophysectomy. A condition resembling hypophysectomy produced by malnutrition. Two figures 493

L. J. POO, W. LEW, D. D. LEE AND T. ADDIS. Protein anabolism in the organs and tissues of pregnant rats at different levels of protein consumption. One figure 505

No. 6 JUNE, 1940

MAX KLEIBER, MURIEL D. D. BOELTER AND DAVID M. GREENBERG. Fasting catabolism and food utilization of calcium-deficient rats. One figure ... 517

MARGARET LAWRENZ, H. H. MITCHELL AND W. A. RUTH. Adaptation of the growing rat to the ingestion of a constant concentration of fluorine in the diet. Three figures 531

NOBUKO SHIMOTORI, GLADYS A. EMERSON AND HERBERT M. EVANS. The prevention of nutritional muscular dystrophy in guinea pigs with vitamin E 547

WALTER C. RUSSELL, M. WIGHT TAYLOR AND LOUIS J. POLSKIN. Fat requirements of the growing chick 555

J. R. HAAG AND L. D. WRIGHT. Cystine and methionine for growth and lactation 563

HELEN OLDHAM AND F. W. SCHLUTZ. The effect of different levels of vitamin B_1 and iron on the retention of iron and the fat content of normal young rats. One figure 569

ROBERT A. KEHOE, JACOB CHOLAK AND ROBERT V. STORY. A spectrochemical study of the normal ranges of concentration of certain trace metals in biological materials. One figure 579

R. D. WILLIAMS, L. WICKS, H. R. BIERMAN AND W. H. OLMSTED. Carbohydrate values of fruits and vegetables 593

MILDRED KING DIMICK. On the difference between thiamin deficiency in the rat and deficiencies of the other members of the vitamin B complex. One figure 605

JOHN W. BRATZLER AND E. B. FORBES. The estimation of methane production by cattle. One figure 611
